Purpose of business

Locke Law LLC is organized to provide lawful legal advice, counsel, representation, advocacy, document preparation, negotiation, dispute resolution, litigation, and other legal and professional services to individuals, businesses, corporations, organizations, and other clients within the Commonwealth of Redmont.

The LLC may provide services in any lawful area of practice within the qualifications and professional authority of its practitioners, and may engage in any other lawful act or activity for which an LLC may be organized under Redmont law. The firm's initial commercial, corporate, contract, property-related business, and business-law focus is a market strategy and does not limit the lawful purpose or future practice of the LLC.

All legal services shall be provided only within the qualifications, court permissions, and professional rules applicable to the individual providing those services.

Management and authority

The LLC is member-managed. The sole member is also designated as the initial manager and authorized agent, with authority to bind the LLC, contract in its name, control business accounts, retain personnel, acquire or dispose of property, commence or defend proceedings, appoint agents, and take any lawful action within the LLC's purpose. No other person may bind the LLC without written authority.

Member terms

Membership

Transferability

No membership, voting right, economic interest, or management authority may be sold, assigned, pledged, transferred, or conveyed without the prior written approval of the sole member and every required member-register and Company Docket update. A recipient of an economic interest does not become a member or agent merely by receiving that interest.

Personal liability

This Certificate does not voluntarily impose personal liability for the LLC's debts, obligations, or liabilities upon a member. The entity shall maintain separate rights, liabilities, records, and accounts to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Shareholder agreement

Not applicable. Locke Law LLC is a member-based LLC, not a corporation, and it has no shareholders or issued shares. Ownership and governance are established by this Certificate and the member register.
