the share class to be issued; the number of shares proposed; the proposed recipient(s); and the consideration (if any) to be received by the Corporation.

(c) Shareholder Approval. Any issuance that would dilute the voting power of existing Class A shareholders by more than 10% in aggregate requires prior approval by a majority of Class A shareholders by resolution.

(b) Class B Shares. Transfers of Class B shares do not require Board approval but must be filed in the Company Docket in accordance with § 7.01(d) below.

(c) Right of First Refusal. Prior to transferring any Class A shares to a third party, the transferring shareholder must first offer those shares to the existing Class A shareholders on a pro-rata basis, at the same price and terms as proposed to the third party. Existing shareholders shall have [5] days to exercise this right from the date of written notice.

(a) Any Class A shareholder may propose the removal of a director by submitting a written resolution to that effect to all Class A shareholders.

(b) Removal requires approval by a majority of the voting power of all Class A shareholders (not merely those participating in the vote), except where the removal constitutes a Reserved Matter under Article X, in which case the relevant threshold applies.

(c) A director proposed for removal shall be given written notice and a reasonable opportunity to address the shareholders prior to the vote.

§ 9.03 Shareholder Incapacitation. In the event that a shareholder becomes incapacitated, inactive, or otherwise unable to exercise their shareholder rights (including by reason of extended absence from the platform), the following shall apply:

(a) A shareholder shall be deemed inactive if they have not logged into the game platform for a continuous period of [30] days without prior written notice to the Corporation.

(b) Upon a shareholder being deemed inactive, the Board of Directors may, by majority resolution, suspend the voting rights of that shareholder's shares for the duration of the inactivity, provided that the shareholder's economic rights (including rights to dividends and distributions upon dissolution) are preserved.
